

A Device to Drive Vessels at Higher Speed.

IMPROVEMENT ON PARSONS ENGINE

Has Fewer Stationary Parts—Rotary Speed Reduced One-half Without Decreasing Propelling Power—Patents Taken Out.

New York, Nov. 8.—Colonel John Jacob Astor has just patented a marine turbine engine to drive vessels at high speed. He says his invention is a great improvement on the idea first developed by Parsons in vessels of the Turbinia and the King Edward class in England. He has taken patents in this and foreign countries.

The Astor turbine differs from other forms by the fact that it has no stationary parts other than the journals and foundation frames which carry it. The casing of the turbine revolves as well as the shaft, but in an opposite direction.

While the shaft propels one propeller, the case, whirling in the opposite direction, moves a second screw, both screws driving the vessel.

Colonel Astor says that the extremely high speeds required in other turbines are a disadvantage which his invention overcomes. He reduces the speed at which his propellers are whirled one-half, but he retains the same power at the propellers, with a theoretical gain in efficiency.

Gain in Efficiency.

This gain, the inventor says, is due to the fact that the rotation of the first or forward propeller gives the water at the stern a rotary or whirling motion and forces it aft in a favorable direction for the action of the second propeller, and thus the combined efficiency of the propeller is increased.

Moreover, judged in its effect upon the helm, the wash of the second propeller corrects that of the first, and the flow of the streams of water is more truly parallel with the axis of the vessel, thus insuring a more perfect action of the helm.

Colonel Astor considers that there are decided structural advantages in placing two propellers on the center line of the ship, seeing that the double shaft passes through the sternpost and deadwood and is therefore held by the most rigid portion of the vessel.

First Formal Dinner at White House

Washington, Nov. 8.—The president and Mrs. Roosevelt gave their first formal dinner at the White House last night, when a company of eighteen persons assembled in the family dining room, which was beautifully adorned with white chrysanthemums. The guests included the following: Secretary and Mrs. Hitchcock, Admiral Dewey, Colonel Sanger, assistant secretary of war, and Mrs. Sanger, Mr. and Mrs. Whitelaw Reid of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Adams of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Rockhill, Commander and Mrs. Cowles, Mrs. H. S. Beale, Miss Alice Roosevelt and Mr. Marvin.

Murder Mystery Cleared Up.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—With the discovery of a blood bespattered basement room at 192 North Union avenue and the arrest of its late occupant, Felipo Rini, an Italian fruit peddler, with blood spattered bills in his possession, the mystery surrounding the death of Antonio Natali, whose body was found hidden in a barrel on the prairie near Western avenue and Rice street, is believed to have been cleared up. That Natali was lured into the basement and murdered for his money by several men seems practically certain.

Odell Commutes a Sentence.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Governor Odell has commuted the sentence of Alva M. Kent of Jamestown, Chautauque county, who has been imprisoned in Auburn prison for having forged a check for $5,000. The prisoner had but a few months of his sentence to serve. Judge Kruse, before whom he was tried, the district attorney who convicted him and the bank which had suffered by his forgery joined in the petition for his commutation.

Mysterious Case in Nyack.

Nyack, N. Y., Nov. 8.—While Percy Young, son of Postmaster Young of Tallmans, Rockland county, was gunning in a marsh he stumbled over the dead body of a man finely clothed and having a gold watch and chain. All the flesh was gone from the head and face, and there was nothing on the body by which it could be identified.

Panama Has Not Fallen.

Colon, Colombia, Nov. 8.—There is absolutely no truth in the report circulated in the United States that Panama has been captured by the Liberals. No fighting whatever has occurred. The state of affairs is the same as it has been for weeks past.

Sultan Acquiesces in Most of French Demands.

Paris, Nov. 8.—A dispatch from Admiral Caillaud was received last evening announcing that he landed marines on the island of Mitylene and occupied the customs at Midilli with resistance.

Official advices to hand say the Turkish authorities have cut the telegraph line between Mitylene and Constantinople. Thus Admiral Caillaud was unable to communicate directly with M. Bapst, counselor of the French legation at Constantinople, and was obliged to file all dispatches at the island of Syria.

Almost simultaneously with the foregoing dispatch from Admiral Caillaud came a telegram from Constantinople saying, "The porte has yielded still further to the French demands and has notified M. Bapst, counselor of the French embassy, that authority is granted France to rebuild or repair sixteen churches, convents and other institutions situated in different villages."

M. Delcasse, minister of foreign affairs and his colleagues are fairly satisfied with the progress already achieved. The sultan has promised to settle all monetary claims and has offered guarantees which fall little short of those demanded. France, however, will insist on full guarantees and also on the surrender of Turkey in the matter of treaty rights before evacuating Mitylene.

No international complications are anticipated in view of the fact that the government has received satisfactory replies from all the powers without exception to its note explaining the measures taken against Turkey. An excellent impression has been created in official circles by the tone of the response of the United States, which is couched in the most friendly terms.

No trouble is expected in the island of Mitylene.

LI IN HIS COFFIN.

He Carried It With Him Around the World.

Peking, Nov. 8.—The body of Li Hung Chang was placed in the coffin which he carried around the world this morning with the customary rites. On Sunday there will be a solemn service, pending to a lying in state, and the Chinese official will pay their respects. A separate day will be designated for the ministers of the powers. The burial will be at Earl Li's birthplace, a little village in the province of Anhui. The time has not yet been decided upon.

A memorial was telegraphed to the court announcing Earl Li's death, and a circular letter was sent to the ministers of the powers. It is expected that when the court receives the news an edict will be issued bestowing posthumous honors upon the deceased and probably advancing him to the rank of a marquis, which title will descend to his eldest son.

The ministers of the powers are personally sending messages of sympathy. The first letter came yesterday morning from Mr. Conger, the United States minister, saying that Secretary Hay had instructed him to tender the regrets of President Roosevelt and the United States government at the imminent death of the great vicerey.

The Chinese officials were unable to obtain communication with Prince Ching. The governor of Peking, the provincial treasurer and the generals commanding the Chinese troops have sent a joint telegram to various points recommending Prince Ching to proceed and join the court in order to present to the court the facts of the situation in Peking before returning to the capital.

There are no signs of mourning in the city, although the populace is considerably excited.

Prominent Secret Service Man Dead.

New York, Nov. 8.—Thomas E. Lonergan, who was well known as a detective throughout the country, has died at his home in Brooklyn. He was born in Illinois fifty-seven years ago and served throughout the civil war in the Ninetieth Illinois volunteers, being mustered out with the rank of major. Going into newspaper work, he was employed on the New York Times, the New York Sun, the Chicago Times, the St. Louis Globe-Democrat and other papers. From newspaper work Mr. Lonergan went into the United States secret service and for many years was in charge of the western division.

President's Sister's Brooch Stolen.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Mrs. William S. Cowles, wife of Commander Cowles of the navy and sister of President Roosevelt, was robbed of or lost about ten days ago a diamond brooch valued at about $5,000. It is believed that the loss occurred during Mrs. Cowles' recent trip to New England, and detectives of several cities through which she passed are working on the case.

Fatal Duel in Vicksburg.

Vicksburg, Miss., Nov. 8.—Ed Yergor was instantly killed and Matt Bedford probably fatally wounded in a pistol duel in Yergor's store at California Station, Madison parish, La. Yergor was shot directly through the heart, and as he fell he raised his pistol and shot Bedford through the body. Both are members of wealthy and prominent families of north Louisiana.

Associate of Irving in Poorhouse.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Henry Montgomery, an actor who in his time appeared with Sir Henry Irving and other noted players, has been sent to Cook county poorhouse at Dunning by Judge Gower, sitting in the court for the insane at the detention hospital. Montgomery fifteen years ago was known in both England and America as one of the best character actors.

Case Now In the Hands of the Judges.

A LONG WAIT FOR THE DECISION.

Not Expected That It Will Be Delivered Before a Month Has Passed. Captain Lemly Closes Argument. Says Schley Is No Coward.

Washington, Nov. 8.—After sittings covering forty days and with a record which when completed will cover about 2,000 pages the Schley court of inquiry yesterday at 3:45 p. m. adjourned its last public session.

There was only one session yesterday. It began at 2 o'clock, and the entire time was devoted to Captain Lemly's address. He read his speech in clear and distinct tones and was given careful attention. The speech in the main was an analysis of testimony, but occasionally a conclusion was drawn, and frequently there was criticism of the course pursued by Schley. Speaking of his conduct, Captain Lemly said:

"From my knowledge of the man, having served under his command on two cruises, I have never believed, nor do I learn from the evidence, that personal misconduct—or, to call a spade a spade, cowardice—was committed by Commodore Schley in any part of his career as commander in chief of the flying squadron. But I submit with regret that in the passage from Key West to Cienfuegos, while at the latter port, en route to the southward of Santiago without settled destination in the retrograde movement, in the return to the vicinity of Santiago and in the affair of May 31 the commodore exhibited unsteadiness in purpose and in push and failure to obey orders."

Long Wait For Decision Likely.

Outside of the formal proceedings before the court perhaps the most interesting development of the day was the statement made in some quarters that if Schley is cleared of all charges not less than fifteen courts of inquiry will be asked for by officers of the navy who have testified in direct opposition to statements made by the rear admiral. The finding of the court will be made carefully, and several weeks may be required in its preparation. When completed, it will be submitted to the secretary of the navy and it will not be given publicity except through him. Naval officers believe that there is no reason to hope for a decision in the case short of a month.

Before adjourning the court declined to grant the request made Wednesday by Mr. Theildt, acting for Admiral Sampson, that the remarks of Captain Parker concerning the fact that the Spanish steamer Colon lay in the harbor at Santiago for some hours after the arrival there of Admiral Sampson be stricken from the record. Admiral Dewey, writing for the court, said that this action had been taken after careful consideration.

Schley to Visit Memphis.

Washington, Nov. 8.—Admiral Schley expects to make a visit to Memphis, Tenn., in January at a date to be determined later, when a silver service is to be presented to him by the people of Memphis. He made this promise to Mr. Crawford of the Memphis Commercial Appeal company, who called on him yesterday to extend the invitation and to assure him of the earnest desire of the citizens of Memphis to have him make a visit.

Alleged Counterfeiter Arrested.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 8.—Secret service officers sent here a month ago by Chief Wilkie of Washington have arrested J. M. Lemon, a local photographer, and captured a large number of photographic plates bearing imprints of $5 silver certificates, $10 national bank notes, $10 note issues of various national banks and of Mexican banks and also a large number of unfinished bills. It is alleged that Lemon is implicated in floating bogus $5 silver certificates which made their appearance a year ago in northern cities.

Boers Armed and Well Clad.

Cape Town, Nov. 8.—A yeoman has arrived here who, with three others, was captured by Commandant Pyper in the midlands a fortnight ago. He says the Boers are well clothed, have plenty to eat and are armed with Metford and Enfield rifles. Almost all of them carried three full bandollers. Their horses are in good condition. The prisoners were well treated. They were released the day after their capture.

Latest Nebraska Returns.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 8.—Returns complete from 61 of the 90 counties in the state give Sedgewick (Rep.) for supreme court judge $9,948 and Hollenbeck (fusion) $9,338. Nearly complete returns from 22 other counties make Sedgewick's plurality 11,120. The remaining seven counties will not materially change these figures.

Tropical Fruits in Spitzbergen.

Christiania, Nov. 8.—Petrified tropical fruits have been found in some Spitzbergen coal. Spitzbergen is the term given to a group of islands in the Arctic ocean midway between Greenland and Nova Zembla, in latitude 80 degrees north and longitude 20.30 degrees east.

A Spanish Minister Resigns.

Madrid, Nov. 8.—As the result of a difference with the budget committee of the Spanish chamber of deputies Senator Urzaiz, minister of finance, has resigned his portfolio. A cabinet crisis is threatened.

Death of a Wealthy Georgian.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8.—Captain W. M. Crant, one of the wealthiest men in Atlanta, is dead, aged sixty-three. He was identified with several financial institutions in the east.

Premature Disclosures Cause Them to Hold Back.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 8.—Mr. Dickinson dispatched a messenger with a reply to the brigands' letter. It is understood that an agreement as to the amount of the ransom has been virtually established. The settlement as to the manner and place of payment and the surrender of the captives presents the most difficulty, but an entente is expected soon.

The brigands are not willing to cross into Turkey to obtain the money, while the Bulgarian government would oppose releasing Miss Stone on Bulgarian soil.

Consul General Dickinson of Constantinople is greatly chagrined because the fact that he had received a letter from Miss Ellen M. Stone leaked out. He says it is calculated to seriously affect if not completely undo the progress already achieved. On two previous occasions negotiations with the brigands who abducted the American missionary were abruptly broken off by the former owing to the premature disclosure of secrets which the bandits regarded as being a breach of the understanding with them.

Mr. Dickinson informed the press representatives that it is absolutely indispensable, if Miss Stone is ever to be released, that the course of the negotiations be kept inviolably secret. Her release is hopeless unless the brigands place confidence in the negotiations.

BREVET FOR PRESIDENT.

Work of the Army Honor Board Practically Completed.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The brevet and medal of honor board, of which General MacArthur is president, has practically completed its work and has adjourned until Dec. 1. The board has gone over the papers in all cases involving recommendations for brevets arising from the war in Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines and China, including those already submitted to the senate at the last session, but subsequently withdrawn. The recorder now is putting these in shape for nomination again, and the list will be ready a few days after the meeting of congress.

The board has found that it is precluded by the convening orders from considering applications for medals of honor which have been passed upon formerly by the war department itself. So, contrary to the original expectation, it will not be possible to recommend the award of such a medal to President Roosevelt, for the department acted adversely in that matter last year, and it is understood that the recommendation in the president's case will be limited to a brevet.

HAYES FOUND GUILTY.

Sentenced For Life For Shooting His Sweetheart.

Litchfield, Conn., Nov. 8.—John T. Hayes, charged with murdering his former sweetheart, Miss Winifred Cooke, was found guilty of murder in the second degree.

The prisoner was immediately sentenced to imprisonment for life. Hayes seemed indifferent when the sentence was passed upon him. The jury had been out since 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Insurgent Activity in Leyte.

Catbalogan, Samar, Nov. 8.—The insurgents are becoming more active in the island of Leyte. Wednesday the town of Matalon was attacked. At Inopacan the insurgents cut the telegraph line. While a detachment of American troops were repairing it they were fired upon by a band of insurgents. After a brief skirmish the rebels were dispersed. First Lieutenant Robert T. Crawford of the First Infantry, a sergeant and five men while attempting to cross the Baboan river, in Samar, were drowned.

The Pope Wards off Trouble.

Rome, Nov. 8.—At a reception of British pilgrims yesterday the pope forbade the reading of their address publicly because it expressed a hope for the restoration of the temporal power of the pontiff, and his holiness did not desire a renewal of the trouble caused by the Duke of Norfolk on the occasion of the previous pilgrimage.

Frightened Into Suicide.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 8.—Peter Matczko of Cleveland, a Notre Dame student, in a fright over an injury sustained by a friend with whom he had been wrestling, shot himself through the head and died instantly. Although Matczko thought the injury to his friend was fatal, it is said the latter was not seriously hurt.

Mrs. T. P. O'Connor Better.

London, Nov. 8.—The condition of Mrs. T. P. O'Connor, wife of the well known member of parliament and newspaper man, who has been suffering from peritonitis at Edinburgh, where she has been performing in her play, "The Lady From Texas," is reported by her physicians to have improved.

Shorthorn Sells For $5,000.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Chelly, a Shorthorn cow, recently of the Queen Victoria herd in England, was sold here for $5,000 to J. J. Robins & Sons of Horace, Ind. The animal cost Queen Victoria $4,000 a few years ago. Twenty other cows and bulls realized an average price of $1,320.

Mailboat Rans a Cruiser.

London, Nov. 8.—The Zealand mailboat Konigslig Regentes collided with the cruiser Proserpine while the latter was anchored off Sheerness. A large hole was torn in the side of the mailboat, and she was breached. The passengers and mails were transferred to the cruiser.

Twenty-six Prisoners Escape From Leavenworth.

FOUR GUARDS SERIOUSLY WOUNDED

One Mutineer Is Killed, and Others Are Wounded—Squad of Forty-eight Purues the Fleeing Desperadoes.

Leavenworth, Kan., Nov. 8.—One man was killed, three others dangerously wounded and twenty-six convicts are at large as a result of a mutiny at the site of the new United States prison, two miles southeast of here, where 400 prisoners from the federal prison, in charge of thirty armed guards, were at work.

When the trouble began, the rebellious prisoners had only two revolvers. These had been secreted in one of the walls of the building by some unknown person. Two walls are partly completed, and the remainder of the site of the building is surrounded by a high wooden stockade.

Cas Parker of Ardmore, I. T., one of the ring-leaders of the mutiny, under pretense of a necessity, walked to the corner of the stockade where the revolvers were concealed and under cover of some weeds secured them without being detected. He returned to the gang and passed one of the revolvers to Frank Thompson, a negro from South McAlester, I. T., who secreted it about his person.

When T. E. Hinds, superintendent of construction, and three armed guards appeared to round up the men at the end of the day's work, the two armed convicts covered them with the revolvers and, encouraged by the other mutinous convicts, forced the men to walk before them to the northwestern corner of the stockade, where they expected to make a rush through the opening.

Met by Guard.

On the outside of the stockade was an armed guard, and the convicts were met at the opening by C. E. Timmons, a guard, who fought them back, but who received two shots in the neck.

The convicts then rushed over to the south wall to another opening and were met by Arthur Treloffer, an armed guard, who is in charge of all the convicts. Treloffer resisted the convicts and was shot twice, but not dangerously wounded. Defeated in their attempt to escape at this point, the men rushed to the guardhouse, a temporary structure, where the arms are kept.

The guards from the outside rushed in at this point and drove the convicts away from the guardhouse. J. P. Waldrup, a guard, shot and killed Ford Quinn, from Iyan, I. T. The prisoners then made a grand rush for the main entrance, and twenty-six of them succeeded in escaping. Most of the escaped men are from Indian Territory. Closely followed by the guards, the men ran to a nearby forest and succeeded in evading their pursuers.

The men went in the direction of Eastern, Kan., and it is reported here that they have held up many farmers, taking horses and clothing.

Forty armed guards from the federal prison are in pursuit of the fugitives. The course that the fugitives have taken is indicated by the footprints in which they have committed depredations. Many of their robberies are being reported here. S. A. Davidson, a farmer ten miles southwest of here, was robbed of a horse and some clothing. Three of his employees were robbed of their coats and hats. C. T. Ferguson, a mail carrier, was robbed of his horse and cart.

Strike on Denver and Rio Grande.

Denver, Nov. 8.—The switchmen on the Denver and Rio Grande railway have declared a general strike, and the men have gone out at Denver, Pueblo, Gunnison and at some other points on the system. It is understood the rest will go out today. The question involved is said to be the recognition of the Switchmen's Union of North America. The company maintains that its agreement with the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen covers the yard service and declines to recognize the other organization.

Carpenters' Treasurer Short.

Philadelphia, Nov. 8.—The North American says that it is officially announced that P. J. McGuire, temporarily suspended general secretary-treasurer of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, is short in his accounts $10,000. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Mr. McGuire. The general executive board of the Brotherhood of Carpenters has also preferred specific charges of breach of trust against its old secretary-treasurer.

District Attorney For Honolulu Dead.

Denver, Nov. 8.—Colonel J. C. Baird, United States district attorney for Honolulu and formerly attorney general of Wyoming, has died here at the home of his brother-in-law, Colonel Baird arrived here three weeks ago on leave of absence and a few days later was prostrated by a nervous attack, from which he failed to rally. His family is in Honolulu.

Pan-American Congress Adjourns.

City of Mexico, Nov. 8.—The arbitration committee of the pan-American congress held a session yesterday afternoon. Upon motion of Mr. Buchanan of the United States it was decided to adjourn until the 19th inst. in order to allow time for an interchange of views among the delegates about the Mexican project for the arbitration treaty.

Liverpool Plague Patient Dies.

Liverpool, Nov. 8.—A seven-year-old child suffering from the bubonic plague, who was isolated a fortnight ago, is dead of exhaustion. The other patients under treatment here are out of danger.

American Confirms Tales of Horrors of Expedition.

London, Nov. 8.—Edgar Canalis, an American, formerly of Illinois and a resident of Washington, who has recently retired from the employ of the Kongo Free State, confirms the terrible stories told about the condition of the natives, especially in the portions termed the state domain, where strangers are seldom admitted.

Canalis, who accompanied Major Lothaire, commander of the Belgian troops in the Kongo, on his earlier expeditions after rubber, says 900 natives were killed in six weeks during that expedition, while a smaller expedition, commanded by a Belgian lieutenant, killed 300 natives in three weeks. The district is practically under martial law, on the strength of which such endless barbarities are committed that the natives are absolutely terror stricken.

Canalis further declares that the so called punitive expeditions are in reality rubber squeezing raids, conducted with such iniquitous methods that the natives are in a constant state of revolt.

While the conditions are somewhat improved in the territories worked by the concession companies, the lot of the natives in the state domain, Canalis declares, is far worse than before the advent of the whites. The natives are practically forced to work rubber at the muzzles of rifles, receiving 2 cents per pound for what is sold at 75 cents at Antwerp.

Thousands of natives have fled to the bush and live like wild animals. Along the jungle paths the bodies of those who have died of starvation are frequent sights.

PANAMA CANAL OFFER.

The Company Names No Price, but Wants Appraisal.

Washington, Nov. 8.—The announcement that M. Huth of the Panama Canal company finally had made a definite proposition to the United States government of the terms on which his company would dispose of the holdings in the isthmus is followed by an intimation that instead of naming a price for which the company would transfer its interest it is proposed that the price shall be determined by a commission of arbiters. In the headquarters of the Panama canal canal commission Arthur Wesley, trained to give definite information on the subject, Secretary Hay at the state department was equally reticent.

The suggestion that the Panama canal promoters have not named a definite price has caused much comment. Members of the senate and house in Washington who are interested in canal legislation declare unreservedly that if the Panama Canal company has made no more definite proposition than that of offering to have their holdings appraised and a price agreed upon by a commission it means the abandonment of any idea of ever building over the Panama route.

Close Election in Maryland.

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—The supervisors of election in the various counties of the state commenced yesterday at noon the official canvass of the vote cast last Tuesday, and until it is finished no positive figures can be given as to the complexion of the next legislature. It will require two and perhaps three days to complete the count in Baltimore city, but enough is known to make it certain. In the absence of unexpected changes in the official count, that the Democrats will control both branches of the legislature.

Harcourt Attacks the Government.

London, Nov. 8.—In a three column letter to The Times Sir William Vernon Harcourt indicts the government's policy and conduct in the South African war, especially in the later stages. He declares that the banishment of Boers and the confiscation of their property are both unconstitutional and mischievous and can be defended neither by the laws of war nor by civil law.

Hunter Accidentally Killed.

New York, Nov. 8.—Dr. C. M. Spalter of this city was accidentally killed in Long Island sound off New Rochelle by Dr. Edward E. Tull, also of this city. The two physicians were duck hunting in Dr. Tull's naphtha launch. Dr. Tull was passing a gun to Dr. Spalter, and in some manner it was discharged, Dr. Spalter receiving the load of shot in the head and dying instantly.

Chile to Arbitrate.

La Guayra, Venezuela, Nov. 8.—Senator Heriberto, the minister of Chile at Bogota, with the authorization of his government, has cabled to President Castro offering the good offices of Chile in order to arrange the differences between Venezuela and Colombia, stipulating the acceptance of Colombia President Castro has accepted.

Kate Greenaway, Artist, Dead.

London, Nov. 8.—Kate Greenaway the artist, died at her home in Hampstead yesterday. Kate Greenaway illustrated "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," "Margold Garden," "The Language of Flowers," "A Day in a Child's Life," "Mother Goose," "Birthday Book," "Little Ann" and other books.

To Deport All Boer Prisoners.

London, Nov. 8.—It is reported that no further voluntary surrenders of Boers will be accepted. All burghers taken hereafter will, it is said, be treated as prisoners of war and deported.

Three Embassadors on Board.

London, Nov. 8.—The Russian, Italian and German ambassadors to the United States are on board the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse, which left Southampton yesterday for New York.

Weather Forecast.

Fair; fresh winds, shifting to west-south.

Rubrics.
Most of the medieval manuscripts have the important initials in red ink; hence the term rubrics, from rubrica red.

Plains of Abraham.
The historic battle grounds, the plains of Abraham, on which Wolfe and Montcalm met in final settlement of the war, is now the property in perpetuity of the city of Quebec.

Feeding an Army.
For an army of 30,000 men and 10,000 horses for three months it is estimated that 11,600 tons of food and forage are necessary.

Height and Weight.
A man should weigh twenty-six pounds for every foot of his height.

They Never Freakie.
What becomes of the theory that all men are born free and equal in the face of the fact that the fair haired children of Russia never freakie? They may play in the sun all day and bear no speaking trace. The proffered explanation is that there is no yellow pigment in their skin.

The Highest Mine.
The highest mine in the world is a tin mine at Guano, Bolivia, 14,000 feet above the sea.

Teeth and Strawberries.
The common strawberry is a natural dentifrice. Its juice without any preparation dissolves the tartarous incrustations on the teeth and also makes the breath sweet and agreeable.

Maraschino.
Maraschino, a sweet and highly flavored liquor, is distilled from cherries bruised, both wild and cultivated kinds of fruit being used.

Ocean Liners.
The boiler tubes of a liner, if placed in a straight line, would reach nearly ten miles and the condenser tubes more than twenty-five miles. The total number of separate pieces of steel in the main structure of the ship is not less than 40,000.

REHEARING FOR CARTER

Civil Court Will Review Convicted ex-Officer's Case.

HE IS FIGHTING FOR A FORTUNE.

Review of Alleged Embezzler Wins.
Will Not Necessarily Free Him,
but Will Keep His Money Out of the Government's Hands.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Oscar M. Carter, now a convict in the government prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., and formerly a captain in the United States engineer corps, is to have a rehearing of his case in a civil tribunal. He now has the assurance of the government authorities that all the evidence is to be reviewed before Judge Kohlsaat in the United States circuit court in this city, the hearing to take place probably within a few months. Carter will be called on as a witness in his own behalf, and for the purpose of testifying in court he will be released temporarily from his place of confinement.

All the evidence which was heard by the court martial will be gone into exhaustively, but even if the court should find for the ex-captain in the civil suit it will, while acting as a moral vindication, have no effect upon the finding of the court martial unless as a consequence of such moral vindication the president exercises his power of pardon.

Result of Government's Suits.
This is the result of the suits brought by the government some months ago in several federal courts for the purpose of recovering the proceeds of $722,582 which, it was proved at the court martial, Carter had embezzled from the United States. His uncle, Lorenzo D. Carter, and his brother, L. Stanton Carter, were said to have received this money and secreted it for the purpose of having a fortune ready for the former army officer upon his release from the military prison.

When the case shall be disposed of finally, these valuable assets will be gone either the property of the government or of Carter. So confident is Carter of final vindication that he cheerfully joined in this agreement with the government's representative. He told his relatives and his lawyer to turn over to the courts at once the property in dispute, and on the court's decision he will have his chance of being a pauper or a rich man when he shall be outside the prison gates.

Standard Oil Defeats Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 7.—The Standard Oil company scored a victory in Nebraska when the referees appointed by the supreme court to take testimony submitted their findings to the court declaring in favor of the company and against the state in the suit brought to oust it under the antitrust laws. The suit was originally brought by former Attorney General Smith and has been pending nearly three years. The referees declare the allegations in the state's petition are not sustained by the evidence. The court at an early date will pass upon the report, and if the usual custom shall be followed it will be accepted.

Chauter Declared Sane.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 7.—The Albemarle county court heard the petition to appoint a committee for John Armstrong Chauter, the divorced husband of Amelia Rivers, the Princess Frobenz-Kov, the allegation being that Chauter was insane. After examining a number of witnesses the court refused the petition, holding that nowhere did the testimony show insanity. This decision settles the question of Chauter's ability to manage his own property interests in Virginia, which will now be turned over to him.

Georgia Town Destroyed.

Richland, Ga., Nov. 7.—Fire which started yesterday afternoon destroyed the greater portion of the business section of this place. The fire originated in a warehouse and was started, it is said, by a truck running over a match. The flames spread very rapidly. Columbus and American fire companies arrived too late to be of much assistance. The loss is estimated at $48,350, with a small amount of insurance.

Island Government Embarrassed.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Nov. 7.—Mr. Dix, the acting treasurer, who is in the military hospital, where he was recently operated upon for appendicitis, shows no improvement in condition. Several days at least must pass before he will be out of danger. His illness seriously embarrasses the government, as there is no treasurer, and Mr. Dix alone is empowered to execute treasury department papers.

Baltimore Republican.

Baltimore, Nov. 7.—Latest returns from this city indicate that it has been carried by the Republicans by about 3,000 plurality. The entire Republican ticket, with the possible exception of the sheriff, has been elected. It is still possible that the general assembly may be Democratic on joint ballot, in which event former Senator German would again become United States senator.

General A. W. Greely Home.

New York, Nov. 7.—General A. W. Greely, U. S. A., chief signal officer, arrived here yesterday on the steamer Columbia from his visit to the Philippines. He went there several months ago to inspect the signal service and returned by way of Europe. He started for Washington almost immediately after landing.

Will Accept Canada's Offer.

London, Nov. 7.—The British war office, it is understood, will accept Canada's offer of a strong cavalry contingent for service in South Africa.

FOUR BLACK CATS.

Brought Boundless Pleasure of Anticipation, but That Was All.

"We are more or less superstitious when it comes to black cats," said a well known young man about town, "and I was one of the firmest believers in the black cat and good luck superstition in Washington until a few days ago."

"I had got tired of doing the same thing in my department over and over every day in the year, and, being a member of one of the learned professions, I decided to attempt to secure a transfer to another department where my training could be put to advantage to myself and incidentally to the government."

"I am from a state where the senior senator is a power in state and national politics, a man almost unapproachable by reason of his prominence, but who is personally one of the staunchest of friends to his friends and whose recommendation usually carries, as it is seldom given. I happen to be one of his friends."

"Next to myself, the person most interested in my ambition was my sweetheart. One night about a month ago on our return from the theater on her doorstep sat a jet black cat with a white star on its breast. The cat followed us into the house in the most friendly manner, refused to go out until it was time for my departure and then followed me to the sidewalk. My best girl in a rhapsody of delight declared that it was ordained by the stars that I was to get my appointment."

"Two or three days later, on the eve of my departure for the great and wicked city which is my home, I stepped into a restaurant on Eleventh street for lunch. A cat as black as ink, with a white star on its breast, came in the door, walked right up to my table and remained until I finished my meal. When I told my sweetheart about the cat's visit when I saw her that evening, she had another spasm of delight, saying that defeat for me was impossible."

"I left for home about two weeks ago, and on the very first night of my arrival, as I was leaving the hotel, a big black cat with a white star on its breast came out of the cafe and rubbed its arched back against my shins. I returned at once to the writing room and wrote my girl about it. I received by return mail a letter of eighteen closely written pages explaining that with the third black cat thus thrust in my pathway my appointment was inevitable and that she could hardly contain her joy."

"On the day before I was to see the senator I stopped on Broadway for lunch. I was almost paralyzed with delight when the fourth black cat came up to my table and purred about my feet in the most friendly manner."

"Need I tell you that the senator was kindness and graciousness itself and handed me my appointment to get up in the line of my chosen profession? Need I say that the endorsements of my district leader and congressional candidate and those of my professional friends were literally thrown at my head? Need I say that my sweetheart wrote me an eighteen page double lined letter every day telling me that I couldn't lose? Need I add that everything in the big city I wanted came my way? Is it not idle to tell you that one of the great men who directs the councils of his party and who is a power therein united with the senator in an endorsement which, had it been at the beginning of the administration, ought to have given me an assistant secretaryship and personally wished me luck?"

"And need I tell you that the cabinet officer to whom I presented my papers frankly told me that having no places vacant, he could not give me one; that I had my trouble for my pains and that the four black cats (threw me down hard, that my sweetheart's nose and eyes were so red from weeping that she couldn't go to the theater and that I have for disposal the strongest set of endorsements which can be picked up on Pennsylvania avenue in an hour's walk?"—Washington Star.

Enemies of the Fishes.

Hatchers of trout and other fish find that the finny tribe has more enemies than they ever supposed before they came into position to know. Mink and weasels will enter a pond and, using their claws as gaff hooks, pull numbers of the fry out of water. Hawks, kingfishers and herons are always on the watch, to say nothing of tann dicks and geese.

A favorite method of killing the former sort of marauders is to line the ponds with tin. Then a mink or weasel getting into the water will find it impossible to climb out and may be shot or speared as desired.

Hawks and kingfishers have a way of alighting on some convenient perch near the pond. The fish hatcher makes a perch for them by erecting a pole with a groove in the top, cut so that a steel trap will just fit into it. When the next bird alights, it is caught and killed.

His Soft Spot.

"You must not touch the top of the baby's head," said a mother to her four-year-old. "She has a soft spot there that is very tender."

The youngster gazed at it curiously for a moment, and then asked: "Do all babies have soft spots on their heads?"

"Yes."

"Did papa have a soft spot on the top of his head when he was a baby?"

"Yes," replied the mother with a sigh, "and he has got it yet."

And the old man, who had heard the conversation from an adjoining room, said:

"Yes, indeed he has, my dear boy, or he would be a single man today."

He—Yes, I know it sounds ridiculous; but, then, I'm not so particular as some men are.

THE CEMETERY AT MALACCA.

Where Panang Malays Sleep Well "After Life's Fitting Fever."

The Malacca is that vast native cemetery in which it is the desire of every Panang Malay to find his last resting place. It covers many acres of ground, and the little nisan, or headstones, rise everywhere through the rank growths that cover the fruitful soil. A few trees stand here and there—trees with thick, fat leaves, soft and fluffy to the touch, of the kind called "spoons" by the Malays, because their shape is not unlike that of a flat rice paddle.

Occasionally the grave of a rajah, a noble or a man of wealth is marked by a headstone upon which some three or four of Arabic inscription have been finely carved, some others are squared roughly, but for the most part the graves have no other ornament than a round piece of water worn granite protruding only a few inches above the surface of the ground or a rudely carved wooden peg leaning crazily to one side. Two or three of the graves have tumble down erections built over them by the piety of the surviving relatives of him who lies beneath. Their devotion, however, has not been equal to the task of keeping their work in repair, and the decaying uprights and cross-pieces have the appearance of a pile of splinters.

There may be noted in other parts of the cemetery of spasmodic attempts to fence in some of the graves, but these have long been abandoned as Utopian. On one rajah's grave may be seen a huge four posted bedstead which oriental wisdom, doubtless after long and anxious discussion, has at length devoted to what its owner conceived was the end for which it was originally fashioned. Rude huts rise here and there among the graves, with the grasses and creepers clinging about their knees, and these are built by the desire of the dead who have left money behind them for the purpose to accommodate the priests and holy men who come to chant the Koran at night, during the quiet midnight that the souls of the departed may rest in peace.

All the graves, from those of the kings who ruled the land to those of the peasants who tilled the soil, are nameless, and thus when a man has laid beneath the soil for a year or two even those of his kindred who held him most dear are unable to say with certainty where their brother lies buried.—National Review.

BACKACHE.

One of the Most Puzzling of Disorders to Account For.

Pain in the back is one of the commonest of the ills afflicting humanity, and at the same time it is often one of the most difficult to relieve and the most puzzling to trace to its origin. It is a symptom of many acute diseases, such as spinal meningitis, smallpox, malaria, influenza, and so forth, but in such cases it is of short duration, and its cause is usually evident. The backache of gallstone, renal colic or simple stomach ache is also an acute affair and disappears rapidly when the gallstone or kidney stone is passed or the inflammation relieved.

It is different, however, with the chronic form, which so often defies all the skill and ingenuity of the physician and exhausts the patience of the sufferer with its persistence and wearying, boring, wrenching pain.

The conditions which may produce this chronic backache are so numerous that a mere catalogue of them would fill a space allotted to this article, and we can refer only to the most frequent of them.

The pain may be due to disease in the spine itself, in the spinal cord, in the back muscles or in the abdominal cavity. Pott's disease of the spine (tuberculosis) and cancer of the vertebrae are the most usual affections of the spine causing backache.

Any affection of the spinal cord may find its expression in backache, but the one most commonly responsible is locomotor ataxia. When of muscular origin, pain in the back is known as lumbago, a disease which is generally regarded as rheumatic affection of the back muscles.

The discovery of the source of the pain in these local affections of the bone, muscle or nervous tissue is usually not difficult, but the problem is more intricate when the pain is not confined to a well-defined internal disorder. Often the physician must interrogate each internal organ in turn before he can locate the starting point of his patient's suffering.

It is always well for the sufferer from a persistent backache to consult a physician.—Youth's Companion.

Doubtful Compliments.

The colonel who, taking his leave at a garden party, inquired, "Have I had the pleasure of saying goodby to you, Miss Mary?" the hostess sweetly assuring a distinguished pianist who has risen abruptly from the instrument with a sarcastic protest lest he should disturb the conversation that he does not do so at all; the young man who, on being told that a possible rival had taken the lady who is speaking in to dinner the previous evening, declares that "that's all he's fit for"—these are decided instances of this class of bad compliment; while for a well meant but lukewarm one poor Newman "Noggs" replies to the collector's query respecting the Kennings' new baby, that it wasn't a very nasty one, may be cited.—All the Year Round.

The Classes.

"The inhabitants of the city," remarked the able person who learnedly dissects social and other profound questions, "are divided into two classes—those who own their houses and those who pay rent, and."

"Excuse me," interrupted the real estate agent, who doesn't know a thing about sociology and doesn't want to, "what about those who would rather move than pay rent?"—Detroit Free Press.

Forcing the Fight.

She—You must take supper with us to-night, and then you can ask my father for my hand.

He—Do you think it will be a good time?

She—Excellent. The girl is away, and I shall cook the supper. He won't risk having me stay around to try it again.—New York Weekly.

MATRON AND MAID.

Dr. Alma J. Frisbie of Milwaukee is the first woman to be a regent of the Wisconsin State university. She has just been appointed by Governor La Follette.

Mme. Patti says that she is extremely nervous. "Even the appearance of my name on the bills," she once wrote, "makes me nervous, and throughout the performance I feel strangely agitated."

Mrs. Katherine Herne, the widow of James A. Herne, the actor, has taken up stage management as a business. She is one of the few women who have been successful in this line of dramatic work.

Miss M. Ruth Martin, the "Tennessee Lark," has been given charge of the vocal instruction at the National Cathedral School for Girls, Mount St. Athanas, Washington, and consequently among her pupils will be President Roosevelt's daughter.

Mrs. Helen M. Stoddard, who has long been the leading spirit in the work of the women of Texas for a state industrial school, is the only woman commissioner appointed by Governor Sayers upon the board of thirteen to locate the site of that institution.

Nicola Greeley Smith, granddaughter of Horace Greeley, is possibly the youngest journalist in New York city. Her first bit of newspaper work was an interview, singularly interesting and well handled, with Mrs. C. H. Parkhurst. Her mother was Ida Greeley, Horace Greeley's elder daughter, who married after her father's death, Colonel Nicholas Smith of Kentucky.

Mrs. James P. Cartleton of Iowa Falls, Ia., is a grandmother at the age of twenty-nine and hopes to be a great grandmother at forty-five. She was married in Ohio eighteen years ago. Less than two years later, when only thirteen years of age, she became a mother. A year ago her daughter, at the age of fifteen, was married, and this child is now a mother.

HORSE TALK.

It is said that the Village farm once came very close to letting Bob Bever have Lord Derby for $1,500.

Belind, 2321, by Artillery, has held the trotting race record at Belmont track, Philadelphia, since 1895.

Hiram P. Mills of Mount Morris, N. Y., aged ninety-five years, recently bought a pair of high top shoes for $400 and drives them every fine day.

A suggestion comes from New England that the lines imposed on trainers go into a fund, as it does on the running turf, to aid the injured and sick drivers, which is about as far as the matter will go.

During the year of 1900 a total of 243,760 mares were covered by stallions which had received the patent of the French government. The average cost to the owner of each mare was $215 per service.

T. W. Lawson negotiated for the three-year-old gelding Peter Stirling two days before the youngster won the Futurity. The price was set at $15,000, but for some unknown reasons the deal fell through.

Crescent, 20221, has received a number of presents from admirers this season, but the latest is the most unique. It consists of a complete and elegant set of clothing, hood, blankets, etc., made from black wool.

TALES OF CITIES.

Boston, after having tried many kinds of paving, is now increasing her wood paved area.

New York city recovered last year $104,455 from forfeited bail bonds, $32,622 from the conscience fund and $3000 from the sale of grass sown on Staten Island.

Los Angeles citizens, by a vote of about five to one, have decided to issue bonds to the amount of $2,000,000 for the purchase of the plant of the City Water company.

Thirty years ago the city of Atlanta paid 8 per cent for money, which was not easily had at that high rate of interest. Now her 3 1/2 per cent bonds are above par in the local market.

Chicago has named a new park McKinley park. It has an area of forty acres, and along its southern edge an artificial hill has been built up, the only elevation for nearly a mile around. In one corner of the park a wading pool has been made and near it a large swimming pool.

Kipling, it is said, has become a total abstainer. Perhaps this is why his later verses do not show the Omar Khayyamsque quality of his earlier efforts.

Mr. Terry McGovern, in preferring to be a "good papa" to his children rather than a "good fellow" in bars, sets a commendable example to many men who are not pugilists.—New York World.

SCRAPS OF SCIENCE.

Acetylene black, produced from the carbon acetylene, is coming into use in the manufacture of India ink.

The sun's light is equal to 3,563 wax candles at one foot from the eye. It would take 800,000 full moons to equal cloudless sunshine.

The waves left in sand by tidal currents have been found to measure three and one-half to fifty-four feet from ridge to ridge, the common length being twelve to twenty-four feet.

LUCKY AND UNLUCKY FALLS.

Distance Is Often Less Important Than the Way of Alighting.

"There is something rather curious to me about the distances that men may fall without getting hurt," observed a New Orleans contractor, "but it is not always the case that a drunken man can fall farther than other men without getting bruised or killed. In my own experience in construction work I have observed a few instances where perfectly sober men have fallen great distances without getting hurt. Of course, as a general thing, a man whose muscles are thoroughly relaxed on account of the influence of liquor is less liable to injury than the sober man, who will make all kinds of efforts to catch himself and who will in this way endanger his limbs by making them rigid and stiff."

"But I recall the case of a man who was working on a building with me several years ago, and at the time he was engaged on the fifth story. He was working in one of the windows in the side of the building. In some way he lost his balance and went head over heels down the side of the building toward the sidewalk below. Because I felt certain that my friend had been mashed in pulp by the long fall, we got down to the ground as soon as possible. I was surprised when I failed to see my friend."

"He had not stopped on the sidewalk, but went crashing into the cellar, and you can imagine the surprise I felt when I met my friend with a smile on his face and making his way to the street, darning steps that led up out of the cellar. I asked him if he was not hurt, and he replied that the fall had hurt him a little and that his blood chilled somewhat while he was going through the air, but he was not hurt. He had struck an iron gate that worked rather easily on its hinges, and this apparatus allowed him to slide with ease to the basement, and it was this simple device that saved his life. He was perfectly sober at the time too."

"That now mark what happened to another friend of mine while he was under the influence of whisky. He was not drunk, but he was in that condition called comfortably dull. He was walking along a sidewalk that was as smooth and as even as any I ever saw. For some unaccountable reason he fell. His head hit first, and it took in such a way that it threw him over on his back. The turn was sudden, spasmodic, and seemed to have been caused by a natural reflex action. He never regained consciousness. His skull was fractured badly, and he died a few hours later. These things go to show that it is not so much a question of how far a man falls. How a fellow hits seems to be far more important than the matter of distance."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Fear Scots and Hebrews.

It is true that a Scotchman can never be employed in the Bank of England, London. A gentleman who has traveled in England and Scotland a number of times recently made the following statements:

"No Scotchman has ever been employed in the Bank of England either as a clerk or in any subordinate capacity for the reason that the English controllers of the bank believe that if they once admitted a Scot to the bank he would eventually control its affairs. In fact, it may be said, going in another direction, that no Hebrew can make a livelihood in Scotland for the reason that the Scot is quite as acute in financial and commercial matters as the Hebrew, and even more so. This statement may be a little hazy, but what I wish to say to you is this—the controllers of the Bank of England would not admit a Scot to any place in the bank any more than they would a Hebrew for the reason that the Scot and the Hebrew would eventually control this great bulwark of English finance."—New York Sun.

His First Elevator.

He was evidently from the country, this little old German, and as his eyes rested on the elevator, undoubtedly for the first time, his sense of the ridiculous was touched.

For a few minutes he stood in wonderment and then, laughing softly to himself, he copied the first person he encountered to see who happened to be the janitor, and fixed this at him, "Vat vos der heile box (ing vat walks people up der stairs stonden still?"

"Oh, that's the elevator," was the answer. "Oh, dat's vat it is, is it? I haf a pocketbook made often der peef of one of dose." He tried a ride, but didn't like it. Then he said:

"I could told my wife neder to go in mit von of dose aligators von der walking by hand vas zont."—New York Post.

A Drop In Price.

Lady—What cut little dogs! What do you charge for them?

Peddler—These dogs, mum, is the best of the Alaska spindly, mum. All the ladies of Alaska has had these dogs for pets for centuries, mum. Such dogs as these is worth fifty dollars a piece, mum.

Lady—Humph! I've read a good deal about Alaska and have formed the opinion that ladies are rather scarce in that region.

Peddler (hastily)—Yes, mum; that's what's the matter. Ladies has got so scarce that there is more dogs than they want. That's why I can sell you one of these dogs for two dollars and a half, mum.—New York Weekly.

SATURDAY, NOV. 9, 1901.

CITY BRIEFS.

Another grand Saturday for the traders.

Did you ever see such continuously fine weather in the fall of the year?

Who repairs your shoes? John Mott, 31 Congress St.

The revival services at the Methodist church attract a great deal of attention.

The P. H. S. seniors gave a dance in the Greenam town hall on Friday evening.

A pessimist is a man who prophesies that our beautiful weather will end when the moon changes.

Is it a bura? Use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. A cat? Use Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. At your druggists.

The women are planning for Christmas. As usual, the men will wait until the afternoon or evening of Dec. 21.

Musical Lessons on Violin, Cornet, Mandolin and Banjo. R. L. Reinwald, Bandmaster U. S. Naval Band, 6 Court street.

Scrophula, with its swollen glands, running sores, inflamed eyelids, cutaneous eruptions, yields to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Dyspepsia—bane of human existence. Burdock Blood Bitters cures it promptly, permanently. Regulates and tones the stomach.

E. G. Niles of Beacon street, Boston, has purchased the Albee estate at New Castle. The transaction is said to have involved about $20,000.

In the Saturday morning session of police court, John Fagan, who was arrested for drunkenness, Friday evening, had the case continued until seven o'clock in the evening.

Evangelist E. G. Knight will conduct services at the Christian church in Southam on Sunday morning at 10:30, and in the evening there will be a gospel temperance service.

Hundreds of lives saved every year by having Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the home just when it is needed. Cures, croup, head, burns, cuts, wounds of every sort.

"There" will be a children's concert at the Pearl street church on Wednesday evening at seven o'clock. Those who have confectionery may leave the same at Pettibone Bros.

No matter how long you have had the cough, if it hasn't already developed into consumption, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will cure it.

The Linneman club of Kittery held another of their assemblies in Wentworth hall on Friday evening. A large number were present, including many from this city.

There are a terrible number of the little folks, and to some older ones. Easily cured. Doan's Ointment never fails. Instant relief, permanent cure. At any drug store, 50 cents.

Seats for The Penitent are now on sale at the box office, Music hall. The Penitent comes Monday evening.

The interest is so great at the revival services being held at the Methodist church on State street, the members decided on Friday evening to continue the services at least another week. On Friday evening the Rev. Mr. Bonthehouse preached to a large audience in the vestry.

The late Capt. Redford Sargent was a great swimmer and it is reported that he once swam from the navy yard bridge in Kittery to this city. His sons are also great swimmers. Capt. Sargent has charge of the ship that carried wheat to the starving Russians a few years ago and shortly after returning from that country delivered a lecture in the Second Christian church in Kittery on the scenes that greeted him in that country on the arrival of the ship. He was an interesting man, capable of splendid expression and broad minded to a great degree. The funeral at the Second Christian church in Kittery on Monday will be largely attended.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Susan A. Spinney.

The death of Mrs. Susan A. Spinney, the greatly respected widow of Samuel H. Spinney, occurred at her home in Elliot today. Her age was sixty-seven years and six months. She had been an invalid for a number of years.

Mrs. Maria Marchant.

Mrs. Maria Marchant, aged 61 years died in York recently. Deceased was a native of York as were her parents before her. She was the widow of Charles Marchant, who died Sept. 12. She was a woman of high character and was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Funeral services were held with Rev. S. K. Perkins officiating.

Judge Jacob D. Young.

Judge Jacob D. Young died at his home in Madbury Friday morning at 7:15 o'clock, after an illness of thirty-six hours, of neuralgia of the heart. His age was 77 years, 10 months and 16 days.

Judge Young was the elder brother of the late Col. Andrew H. Young, and of Col. Aaron Young of this city and George W. Young of Rochester. He married Miss Sarah Twombly of Madbury, who survives him, and has left four children, viz.: Edward L., Lewis H., Miss Lilla Young and Mrs. Esther Hall, wife of A. S. Hall, of Rochester.

Judge Young was well-known in this county and throughout the state. He was born in Barrington Dec. 28, 1823, and resided there and in Madbury all his life. He was a man of remarkably strong and acute intellect and was always a leader of public opinion within the circle of his influence.

He received at an early day, all the honors which the people of his native town could bestow upon him, and all ways justified the confidence placed in him. In 1877 he was appointed judge of probate for the county of Stafford, and held the office seven years, till 1894, when he was retired by reaching the statutory age of seventy years. He made a grand record in this important office, and though not a lawyer by profession no one has made a better judicial record.

His solid, common sense, unerring judgment and strong sense of justice and equity guided him to the best decisions on all occasions, and his career as judge of probate is one of which his friends may always be proud.

When he retired from the bench the event was marked by a banquet of members of the bar in his honor, at which unanimous tribute was paid to his valuable service in that capacity.

In 1895 and 1896, Judge Young was a member of the governor's council and a most agreeable and entertaining associate and friend. His family sustains a severe bereavement in his death.

Judge Young was a life long republican and had a very high standing as a wise counsellor in the party.

In his domestic relations he was estimable and amiable in the highest degree, and a tender husband and father.

A BUSY CREW.

F. H. Ellis and his workmen of York have been engaged recently in moving a house at North Kittery which is owned by Edward Mitchell of that town and occupied by him as a residence. Last week Mr. Ellis moved a house at Kittery Point belonging to Stephen Decatur. Another difficult piece of work which Mr. Ellis has successfully completed is the shipment of two large cannon from Fort McClary to a town in Michigan. One of these guns weighed fifteen tons and the other twenty-two. They were taken from the fort and landed without mishap on board the cars at Kittery Point.

Judge Young was the elder brother of the late Col. Andrew H. Young, and of Col. Aaron Young of this city and George W. Young of Rochester. He married Miss Sarah Twombly of Madbury, who survives him, and has left four children, viz.: Edward L., Lewis H., Miss Lilla Young and Mrs. Esther Hall, wife of A. S. Hall, of Rochester.

Judge Young was well-known in this county and throughout the state. He was born in Barrington Dec. 28, 1823, and resided there and in Madbury all his life. He was a man of remarkably strong and acute intellect and was always a leader of public opinion within the circle of his influence.

He received at an early day, all the honors which the people of his native town could bestow upon him, and all ways justified the confidence placed in him. In 1877 he was appointed judge of probate for the county of Stafford, and held the office seven years, till 1894, when he was retired by reaching the statutory age of seventy years. He made a grand record in this important office, and though not a lawyer by profession no one has made a better judicial record.

His solid, common sense, unerring judgment and strong sense of justice and equity guided him to the best decisions on all occasions, and his career as judge of probate is one of which his friends may always be proud.

When he retired from the bench the event was marked by a banquet of members of the bar in his honor, at which unanimous tribute was paid to his valuable service in that capacity.

In 1895 and 1896, Judge Young was a member of the governor's council and a most agreeable and entertaining associate and friend. His family sustains a severe bereavement in his death.

Judge Young was a life long republican and had a very high standing as a wise counsellor in the party.

In his domestic relations he was estimable and amiable in the highest degree, and a tender husband and father.

A BUSY CREW.

F. H. Ellis and his workmen of York have been engaged recently in moving a house at North Kittery which is owned by Edward Mitchell of that town and occupied by him as a residence. Last week Mr. Ellis moved a house at Kittery Point belonging to Stephen Decatur. Another difficult piece of work which Mr. Ellis has successfully completed is the shipment of two large cannon from Fort McClary to a town in Michigan. One of these guns weighed fifteen tons and the other twenty-two. They were taken from the fort and landed without mishap on board the cars at Kittery Point.
